RAILROAD STRIKE SETTLEMENT MARKING TIME IN WASHINGTON

President Harding Not Expected to Make Any New Move Until After Meeting of the Cabinet—Adviser Not Agreed as to Policy to be Pursued—Promise of Both Sides to Obey Labor Board is Encouraging.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 3.—With both the railroads and their striking shopmen definitely on record as pledging future adherence to decisions of the railway labor board, President Harding and his cabinet advisers faced the critical industrial situation hopefully today, if not confidently.

While it was admitted by administration leaders that settlement of the immediate strike of 300,000 shopcraft workers apparently is nearly as far distant as ever, they nevertheless regard the replies of both railroads and unions to the White House peace proposals as constituting a "moral victory" of considerable magnitude.

Both sides have now admitted the supremacy and the authority of the board to determine wages and working conditions and have given their respective words to faithfully observe its findings. With this as a basis on which to proceed, administration leaders said the situation was not "as hopeless as it would seem to appear."

The belief was uppermost in White House quarters that the question of seniority—the rock upon which all efforts at peaceful settlement of the strike have been shattered—ultimately will find its way to the labor board for decision within a few weeks. Once the board gets hold of this troublesome issue and renders a decision in it, both sides have already committed themselves to acceptance.

Just how the matter is to be projected before the tribunal at Chicago was not apparent today. But it was pointed out by administration officials that if the strikers would return to work, petition the railroads for their work rights, which undoubtedly would be denied, then the workers could bring their petition before the board as a "current dispute" arising while operations were proceeding.

President Harding will take no drastic steps in the railroad strike in advance of tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

SHOP WORKER BEATEN TO DEATH

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Aug. 3.—Robert Johnson, a carpenter working in the Illinois Central railroad shops at Burnside, was beaten to death today by four men who attacked him as he was on his way to work. After slugging Johnson the four men fled leaving him lying in the street. When police arrived he was dead.

Fair Street Reformed Church.

During the month of July, while the congregation of the Fair Street Church has been worshipping in the First Reformed Church in union services, extensive improvements have been made to the church property. A new carpet has been made and laid by Sloane & Co., of New York; the cushions have been reupholstered, the same material being used as was used for the upholstery in the new Fifth Avenue Baptist Church of New York. The new Reformed Church hymnal has been substituted for the old church hymnary; the pulpit platform has been enlarged and painting and decorating completed throughout, all under the supervision of the Ladies' Aid Society. The church will be opened for worship next Sunday, the congregation of the First Reformed Church uniting, and the pastor, Dr. Seeley, will preach.

General Staff Wins.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 3.—A stubborn factional fight in the army in which Quartermaster General Harry L. Rogers and the general staff were opposed to each other, ended today in a victory for the staff when President Harding nominated Colonel William H. Hart to succeed General Rogers in the post. Colonel Hart is now stationed at New York.

MANY MINE OPERATORS INTEND TO APPEAR IN JOINT CONFERENCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cleveland, O., Aug. 3.—"Tory" elements in the central competitive field will not be permitted to thwart the joint conference of operators and miners called for next Monday, it was emphatically declared today by local coal operators.

"Plans for a settlement have gone too far to be halted," one operator said.

The logic of the situation demands that the four months' tie-up be terminated, and no man or set of men can fight long against facts. The country must have coal and so far as I can see there is but one way to get it—that is to get the union coal miners of the country to go into the mines and dig it.

WOULD-BE BARNYARD GOLF CHAMPS INDULGING IN STRENUOUS PRACTICE

Exhibiting of Horseshoe Pitching Trophy Stirs Up Renewed Efforts by Local Teams to Prepare for Contest Which Will be Big Feature of Farm Bureau Outing on August 16.

Now that the horseshoe pitching championship trophy is an exhibit at the store of Safford & Scudder there has been a great renewal of effort all over the county by the local teams to prepare themselves to win the contest.

Numerous local contests are being held to select the best teams. New Paltz has held several trials back of the blacksmith shop on the banks of the "kill" and up to last night were undecided as to the team. The final try-out was held Wednesday night with competition very keen, but the returns are not yet in, although it looks as though Kenneth DuBois and Calvin Freer would probably win out. If they do the other communities want to look to their laurels for Kenneth DuBois says that no city team from any fool club can beat the New Paltz team.

Gardiner also held a local try-out Wednesday evening. It seems impossible to get the true results of this local contest but rumor has it that "Lute" Dushinberger, supervisor of the town of Gardiner, throws a very wicked shoe and that Charlie Wright is able to mark up a ringer every third time he throws a shoe.

There is also vague rumor of much practicing up in Flatbush with Clarence Davis as referee and news comes down from Asbury, West Camp and Saxton of the local contest to be held at the Asbury Grange Hall next week.

From all indications it looks as though the silver cup will not have a very long stay in Kingston but will reside in some quiet peaceful Grange hall for a year, although Hal Eppes of Accord says the cup will be used to decorate the Community Singing Hall at Accord. But after all this will be settled conclusively on the 16th of August.

McKenzie and Lunn To Be Speakers.

H. C. McKenzie of the American Farm Bureau Federation and Mayor Lunn of Schenectady are to be the two speakers at the Farm and Home Bureau and Chamber of Commerce picnic to be held at Forsyth Park on August 16th.

Mr. McKenzie, who is a native of Delaware county, is a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation and is also employed by that organization as a tax expert. He will speak on the effect of our national tax policies on eastern agriculture. Mr. McKenzie is well qualified to speak on this subject as he has been working on taxation problems from the farmers' point of view for the past two years.

Mayor Lunn of Schenectady will also speak at the big picnic. He will speak on the necessity for co-operation between the farmer and the business man.

The speaking will start at 1 p. m. standard time and will be preceded by a song led by H. M. Eppes of Accord.

Immediately after the speaking the scene of activities will shift back again to the finale of the horse-shoe pitching tournament.

CARED FOR 619 PERSONS HERE

The board of charity commissioners for the year from July 1, 1921 to July 1, 1922, has cared for 619 persons in Kingston, according to the annual report just made to the state department. That includes the inmates at the City Home, at the city hospitals and outdoor relief during the year.

The Strike That Failed.

In addition to the striking shopmen on the railroad Kingston had another "labor" problem to solve this morning when four employees of the Opera House on Fair street walked out without notice as a protest against a change of working hours. "Bill" Metzger alone remained to handle the noon hour rush. However it did not take long to find additional help so that none of the patrons of this popular lunch room had to do without their mid-day meal.

Chicago Buildings Bombarded.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Aug. 3.—Two buildings upon which it is alleged non-union workmen had been employed, were damaged by bombs here early today. An apartment building in West Sixty-sixth street was bombed and tenants were thrown from their beds. Two persons were slightly injured. The stairway of a recently completed building in Drexel boulevard was damaged by the other bomb.

ANOTHER ANARCHIST PLOT AGAINST PREMIER POINCARÉ

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Aug. 3.—That another Anarchist plot exists against the life of Premier Poincaré was revealed today through a police search for a member of the society of Anarchists in this city.

The police had arrested one Anarchist who confessed the plot and gave the name of another Anarchist who, he said, was involved. The police made a vigorous search in all the places frequented by Anarchists but were unable to locate the accomplice.

Someone Robbed "Mother Annie."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Waterbury, Ct., Aug. 3.—Anna Martin, a widow, known as "Mother Annie," and "The Queen of the Gypsies," reported to the police today that her home here, in the district inhabited mostly by Italians, was entered last night in her absence and $3,000 in cash, $4,000 worth of gold coins and jewelry and a bank book on a Charlestown, Mass., bank with deposits of $17,000 stolen. Police have arrested John Arestos and Steven Kazilileo of this city, and Michael Sarant of New Britain who are held on suspicion of having knowledge of the robbery. The woman was visiting at the home of Arestos last night when the robbery occurred.

Why Strand Is Dug Up.

Since the several stores on the Strand, opposite the Bachelet Company, have changed hands, it has been discovered that the row of buildings were all hooked on the same water and sewer lines. This has made it necessary to dig up the pavement and make separate water and sewer connections for each building.

FORD HAS COAL FOR ONLY 14 DAYS

Army of Employees Will be Thrown Out of Work Unless Coal Comes Within Two Weeks.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Lansing, Mich., Aug. 3.—The entire army of Ford Motor Company employees will be thrown out of work unless Ford obtains new coal shipments within 14 days, his representatives told the fuel committee here today. In addition to the Ford plant, with its vast numbers of workers, the Dodge, Chevrolet and Studebaker plants would be tied up through loss of gas which Ford supplies.

BRAKE BROKE AND TRUCK RAN AWAY

Remarkable Mixup On Lower Broadway When Heavily Loaded Horse-Drawn Truck Crashed Into Gruberg's Parked Auto, Blocking Traffic—Horse and Driver Hurt.

While James Cragin was driving one of Teller & Tappen's trucks, loaded with two tons of coal, down the Broadway hill this afternoon the brakes on the wagon suddenly snapped as he was passing the Orpheum theatre and the horse, unable to hold the load, started to run down the hill. When near Mann's new garage Cragin attempted to steer the horse into the building, but being unsuccessful he leaped from the seat of the truck, injuring his knee.

The horse and truck plunged on down the hill. In front of the Globa grocery on Broadway, just below Abel street, was parked the delivery automobile of Joseph Gruberg, the electrical contractor.

The horse plunged into the parked auto and horse, truck and auto started on down the hill at a rapid pace. In front of Richmond's dry goods store the heavily loaded coal truck, automobile and horse collided with a trolley pole, which stopped a further descent of the hill.

The horse was thrown under the wagon, and it required the united efforts of a number of men to release the horse by unloosening the harness and shoving the coal truck back up the hill.

Gruberg's auto, badly wrecked, swung across the car tracks, blocking traffic in both directions.

The mixup was one of the most remarkable seen in a long time on lower Broadway, and soon a huge crowd collected at the scene.

When the horse was extricated it was found that the animal was badly cut, and it was taken to the stables of Dr. J. A. Huhne on West Union street.

$10,000,000 A YEAR TO PROTECT FROM AIR ATTACK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Aug. 3.—Great Britain has decided to provide a home defense air force of 500 airplanes, Premier Lloyd-George announced in the house of commons this afternoon. It has been decided further to spend an additional $10,000,000 annually to protect England from air attack.

A large section of the British press has been clamoring for weeks for government action to strengthen the air defenses.

The Daily Express from time to time has been printing powerful editorials on the first step, stating that Great Britain is practically defenceless in the air.

It was pointed out by the newspapers and officials of the army and navy that France is the only nation in a position to attack Great Britain by air and all were very careful to say that no danger is felt from that quarter. It is this circumstance which adds mystery to the public demand for strengthened air defenses.

General Sir Frederick Maurice, director of military operations at the war office during the World War, declared in an interview that he believed that it was wiser to increase the navy rather than the air forces, but this view is not generally held.

There is one section of official opinion which believes that the "next war" will be won through a combination of air and chemical weapons. Those holding this view think that airplanes will be perfected to the point of silent flight and that large squadrons of them will be able to drop bombs containing poison gas, which will wipe out not only armies but the civilian population.

Major General J. E. B. Seely, former secretary of state for war, and under minister of air, described the condition of Great Britain's air defenses as "deplorable." He said that Britain was lagging behind the other powers. He said he had been urging the government for two years to take action.

Major General Seely failed to explain from what source he believed Great Britain to be menaced.

NO CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 3.—There can never be a general cancellation of international war debts on a basis of equality among the nations of the world, so far as the United States is concerned.

The flat announcement came from the treasury department today in the shape of an informal reply to the Balfour note in which Great Britain virtually recommended such a proceeding.

Not only does this view represent the policy of the treasury department, but it also represents the views of the American funding commission, which congress created for the express purpose of collecting $1,000,000,000, which European governments owe the United States.

In stating this policy, an official spokesman for both the funding commission and the treasury department was careful to emphasize that Great Britain has not suggested a course in any of the correspondence that has passed between the two governments on debt matters.

The suggestion in the Balfour note, however, was so prominent that cognizance was taken of it even though the United States received a copy of the document only "for its information" and was not addressed officially. While the treasury was most emphatic in stating there can be no general cancellation of international indebtedness, it would not be surprising to officials of this government if some measure of "partial cancellation" are soon suggested in a more formal way than is attempted through the Balfour document.

In explaining the position of the United States with reference to the debt problem in general, and the cancellation suggestion in particular, treasury officials took particular pains to point out that the American position is not in any way comparable to that of European nations.

Every major European nation, with the exception of possibly Germany and Russia, is both a creditor and a debtor, while the United States is solely a creditor.

Therefore, it was said, even should partial cancellation be considered, the position of the United States as a creditor nation could not be changed, for the ratio would remain the same. Officially it was declared that the Balfour note, sent to the United States "as a courtesy" would not make any change in the plans of the American commission to go ahead and arrange the best possible terms for collection of the debts.

A British financial mission is expected to arrive in this country next September and so far as this government has been advised, there have been no changes in these plans.

PLANS FOR KINGSTON CITY HOSPITAL ADDITIONS HAVE BEEN APPROVED

Architect George E. Lowe has just completed the plans for the large addition to the Kingston City Hospital and has had the plans approved by the State Board of Charities. The new addition will be twenty-five feet in width and one hundred and eighteen feet in length and when completed will put the hospital on a par with any which can be found in a city the size of Kingston. The funds needed to carry on this much needed work have all been raised by popular subscription among the public spirited citizens of Kingston and up to this time have reached a very substantial amount.

The completed plans call for an addition of two new sun parlors and two new isolation wards on the first floor, which will add greatly to the comfort of the patients and the effectiveness of the hospital equipment. Over both present men's and women's wards on the first floor will be constructed new fire proof wings supported upon a skeleton structure of steel frame which will be entirely independent of the present structure. This two story addition will contain four two bed wards and fourteen private rooms with all the mechanical equipment necessary for a highly up-to-date hospital. On the front over the two new sun parlors, will be constructed new balconies which will be accessible from the rooms adjacent by means of French doors. These new wings are also to be entirely separate from the old building. All the new construction work will be of common North River brick. The plans for the entire front following the old Colonial architecture of the present front central wing and when completed will give the appearance of a connected whole which will make the hospital one of the show buildings along Broadway. In the attic over the second story addition will be constructed eight rooms for the help which will be connected to the new fire proof wing constructed over a year ago. A new boiler will also be added to the equipment of the hospital which will be large enough to take care of the heating of the hospital in mild weather and will do away with the necessity of running two boilers at all times. The plans will be given out in a very short time for contractors to bid upon and it was stated that all of the work or at least a good part of it will be awarded to local contractors.

THE KU KLUX KLAN

The Culbersons, father and son, have represented Texas for sixty-three years, in the governor's mansion as well as in both branches of Congress. But in these changeable times a Culberson has been defeated by a more radical politician of a different type, a known darling of the Ku Klux Klan who was ardently supported by the members of that "invisible empire." This fact is of importance altogether apart from local issues and the personality of the candidates. It is still another reminder that the Ku Klux Klan is a startling, not to say ominous, development of the times. There have been other bodeful reminders in plenty, such as the whipping by masked men in several States of free-tongued citizens who ventured to speak publicly and critically of the Klan's methods, and the pitiable appeal of a negro woman in Georgia to be allowed to reside in the local jail so as to be "safe from the Ku Klux."

Judging by report, members of this secret order are now committing more violence in the Southern States than elsewhere, but the indications are that it is growing in numbers and influence in all parts of the country, North and West as well as South. Apparently the New York World's damaging exposures and heavy blows, instead of stamping it out as some confiding persons fondly supposed, have merely served to advertise the "invisible" order more widely.

The modern Ku Klux Klan seems to be in part a revival of the "all-American" impulse of the "Know-Nothing" or American party which figured for a few years in the middle of the last century, with anti-Jew and anti-Catholic added to anti-foreigner sentiment. In view of the behavior of so many of our hyphenates during the World War, there is considerable excuse for the Klan's anti-foreigner attitude, but under a government that has always stood for religious liberty there is absolutely no excuse for the added "anti." The present-day Ku Klux Klan represents further a widely noticeable American disposition to regulate the other fellow. In this particular it is first cousin in principle to the impulse behind such sumptuary laws as prohibition, but differs in that it disdains legal methods and runs to the extremes of personal molestation and violence. Inevitably this tends to bring it in particular instances, even below the level of law-defying lynch mobs, for its masked night work provides abundant opportunity for the wreaking of mere personal revenge and the perpetration of any form of cruelty.

Whatever pretense of regard for the public good may be upheld in its councils, and however sincere may be such an attitude on the part of some or many of its leaders, the Ku Klux Klan, a secret order devoted to community regulation by hidden or violent methods, is obviously a public danger even apart from the excesses and the taking of private revenge inevitably to be expected from no few of its members.

SYMPATHETICALLY NONCOMMITTAL.

Great Britain has been asked to permit its ships to be searched by our dry navy beyond the three-mile limit and naturally is embarrassed by so extraordinary a request. To consent would not only bring one of the greatest powers under American dominion on the high seas but get Great Britain into hot water with its near-independent colonies. But Great Britain, as usual, wishes to be friendly no matter how unexpected our State Department's propositions may be. The British government is perfectly willing for the United States to be made bony-dry, even by extra-legal methods in which it has no part. At the same time it must preserve its own dignity and look after its plain rights on the high seas. And so, after troubled meditation, the British government—according to the Associated Press—has let it be known that its attitude is "sympathetically noncommittal," which of course means that, though the British government will amiably consent to waste time in friendly chat, the one really will be one of "nothing doing."

If the British government were to clined to be satirical instead of studiously friendly, it might venture to inquire why the United States does not search its own ships beyond the three-mile limit, why the British government is not asked to co-operate with Prohibition Commissioners in stopping the sale of liquors on our Shipping Board's liners, why it is not asked to prohibit its subjects from selling liquors to our Shipping Board's liners in British waters for the consumption of thirsty Americans and the profit of the United States government. But of course the British authorities are too tactful to embarrass our State Department to such an extent.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Is there any difference in the eggs of Downy and Hairy woodpeckers?

They differ slightly in size, corresponding to the relative stature of the adults. The Hairy's eggs are given in Minot's "Land Birds" at "85 x 65 or more" as against the "80 x 60 or less" of the Downy. Both are white.

2. Is sumac poisonous?

One variety is Rhus vernix. It is common on swampy land, has leaflets green on both sides, leaf stem winged. The fruit is greenish gray. The handsome stag-horn sumac, Rhus typhina, has its leaflets sharply toothed dark green on top and whitish underneath, with hairy effect on under side. The fruit is rich red and velvety when mature. Grows on this rocky soil, is common in hilly country.

3. What information can you give me of the habits of the spoon-bill cat, or Southern sturgeon? What do they feed on? When spawn? How long in reaching full growth?

We do not know a "Southern sturgeon" by that name. The Spoon-bill, or paddlefish, Polyodon folium, frequents the waters of Southern states, the Mississippi, Missouri, and Ohio Rivers, and tributaries. Sluggish habit, feeds chiefly on mud, or the minute organisms in, using its "bill" or rostrum, to stir up the mud. Grows to 5 or 6 feet long, but life history not known, as none have been reared in captivity. Small specimens 6 to 8 inches have been taken, but are rarely seen. Spawn, March to June, according to locality.

DE VALERA IS DOWNCAST OVER SITUATION IN IRELAND.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, Aug. 3.—Eamon De Valera, chief leader of the Republican irregulars, with his back to the wall, is favoring a last stand against the Free State army at Clonmel, according to information received here today.

De Valera, at a council of war, urged that the irregulars give decisive battle to the Free State, staking all their hopes upon this engagement. The Republican chief-tain was overruled by his advisers and the irregulars decided to fall back from the Clonmel sector towards Carrick-on-Suir. De Valera was described as being greatly downcast over the situation.

Free State troops are advancing on Cashel from the east and already have captured Chaor, nearby.

The Free State advance continues in two directions—southward and westward.

Several civilians in Dublin were wounded early today by the explosion of a bomb.

STONE AND ACID THROWER SHOT BY A POLICEMAN.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Buffalo, Aug. 3.—The thirty-third day of the Buffalo street car strike ended in bloodshed. At 11 o'clock last night John Chrosniak, 25 years old, was killed, presumably by a shot fired by Patrolman Elmer Sisson after Chrosniak is said to have thrown a stone at a street car and to have splashed a container of acid over J. J. McCloskey, of Philadelphia, motorman of the car attacked.

The body of Chrosniak is now at the morgue, while McCloskey lies at the Emergency Hospital at the Cold Spring barns, badly burned on the face and neck and likely to lose the sight of one eye.

REED LOOMS AS DEMOCRATIC HOPE

Missouri Senator Whose Nomination Is a Repudiation of Wilsonism May Be a Presidential Possibility.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Repudiation of Woodrow Wilson as leader of the Democratic party by Missouri Democrats in their renomination of Senator "Jim" Reed, the fiery anti-Wilson leader, was looked upon in senatorial political circles today as heralding an attempt to make Reed the Democratic nominee for president in 1924.

Driven from the Democratic convention at San Francisco two years ago as "a man without a party," Reed has returned to party power on a tremendous wave of personal popularity which also swept the League of Nations covenant and all Wilsonian policies to tragic defeat. With Missouri normally in the Democratic column, Republican and Democratic senators today admitted Reed's chance of re-election to the senate in November were "very bright."

His fight for another six year term in the senate, it is admitted, was won last Tuesday. Some of his more ardent admirers, on both sides of the chamber, too, even predicted his election by an overwhelming majority.

Reed's spectacular defeat of Breckinridge Long, a confidant of former President Wilson, will give the Missouri senator a tremendous influence in Democratic party councils, it was predicted.

Strong Wilson supporters in the senate were adverse to public comment on Reed's victory. The immediate effect of Reed's victory in the senate will, however, be to immeasurably strengthen the position of anti-Wilson Democrats. It was conceded that they will have to deal with liberally in all future deliberations of the party.

If Reed were to pile up a tremendous majority in the November election, it was also pointed out, he might easily succeed to party leadership. Reed would be armed with control of a so-called border state and be an acknowledged leader of the faction opposing the defeated former president. Added to this influence would be the fact that his leadership would eliminate from future campaigns the League of Nations issue which swept the Democratic party to the worst political defeat in American history just two years ago.

The "Reed for president" boom, it was said, would gain strength also because Reed comes from the middle west, is a forceful speaker and a "Rooseveltian big stick" politician. With the possible exceptions of Senator Hiram Johnson and Senator William E. Borah, Reed today is the most picturesque figure in the senate.

Whether or not Reed holds presidential aspirations, his victory Tuesday, it was conceded, won him a higher niche in the esteem of his senatorial colleagues and brought him a commanding position in the councils of his party.

A Popular Bond

There are fundamental reasons why Gas and Electric Company securities are regarded by financial authorities as offering splendid investment opportunities:

1. These companies furnish an essential service to the community.
2. They have a record of remarkable stability of earnings over a long period of years.
3. They are recognized in Law and in Practice as publicly regulated monopolies.
4. They are nearly free from inventory adjustment problems.
5. They enjoy greater immunity from labor troubles than almost any other large enterprise.
6. Their business is nearly on a cash basis.
7. They hold a record practically equal to National Banks for minimum risk of failure.
8. For prompt payment of principal and interest and for marketability, their bonds are unsurpassed.
9. Through new developments in the science of their business, greater economies of operation are secured and new uses found for their product, increasing the opportunity for greater revenue.

The above points were taken from a publication issued by the Central Trust Co. of Kansas City. It gives the results of an analysis it made of the investment situation and answers the question—why are the securities of local gas and electric companies so popular with investors?

ROSSBACK TOOK THE GAME, 5 TO 1

Red Hook—beg pardon—not Red Hook, but a pitcher named Rossback, took a 5 to 1 game from the Colonials at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon. Rossback did as nice a job of pitching as has been seen around these parts in many moons, holding the Kingston team to three scattered hits and would have scored a shut-out but for his own wildness.

Rossback, whose chief asset on the firing line is plenty of smoke, had a valuable ally in the weather man yesterday, and the Colonial batters were unable to see his fast one, or, rather, his fast ones, as that was about the only thing Rossback served them. One scratch hit in the first innings shows just how effective the former D. & H. General's twirler was.

It was a tough break for "Red" Wagner to be pitted against Rossback yesterday, as "Red" himself did a pretty good job. Outside of the ninth inning, when the Dutchess county club found him for three blows, Wagner showed in good style, but shut-out ball was necessary to win yesterday.

Neither team was able to send a man around until the fifth and then Red Hook did it in an unexpected manner. "Cub" Simmons, a catcher who disdains the use of any protective armor save a mask, caught hold of a high one and sent it out of the lot via the left field fence route.

That one run gave Red Hook an opening and they added another in the sixth. Curtis led off with a single to right, and went to second when Kelly dropped a bunt in front of the plate. Kelly beating Robins's throw to first. Both men moved up a peg when Wagner made a balk. McCue sent a fly to Schwab in left, both runners holding their bases, but Curtis came home on Cookingham's fly to Fitzgerald. "Rube" DeGross, old Hudson River League player, ended the inning with a grounder to Glaser.

Another tally was gathered in by Red Hook in the eighth, two men being down when Kelly got on on Coyle's error. McCue couldn't get out of the way of one of Wagner's shoots and went to first. Cookingham drove Kelly home with a single to center.

Red Hook earned two runs in the ninth. Lowther hit through Deegan for a single and Kilmer followed with another single just inside the left field foul line. A sacrifice by Simmons moved both runners up a base, and Rossback completed his day's work by clearing the bases with a two base hit to left.

The Colonials' only score came in the seventh. Rossback had a sudden streak of wildness and walked both Coyle and Deegan, but Coyle was called out at third when Rossback fielded Robins's bunt and threw to McCue. Deegan then attempted to steal third, Matty scoring when Simmons threw wild in an effort to catch him.

With one down in the ninth Deegan got another walk, and Robins followed with a clean hit over second. McCullough and Culleton were pressed into service as pinch hitters, the former hitting for Glaser and Culleton for Schwab, but Rossback set them both down on strikes.

Umpire Jordan worked alone in yesterday's game, Umpire Engel being unable to be present because of a missed train connection.

Century Old Church Burned.
The Presbyterian Church of Pine Plains, a relic of the settlement days in Dutchess county, was burned to the ground Tuesday evening when a bolt of lightning struck the tower. The fire was discovered about 5 o'clock during the terrific storm and by 8 o'clock only a mass of gray ashes marked the place where the villagers "have" worshipped since 1815, when it was organized as the Union Meeting House.

"Smilin' Through" with Norma

Talmadge showing at Keeney's tonight. Friday and Saturday comes to Kingston with very high endorsements from press, public, clergymen, club women, noted educators, lawyers and business men. Technically the production is without a flaw. Of the superb cast chosen to surround Miss Talmadge too much could not be said in praise. Wyndham Standing always an artist of the most polished and admirable character, establishes in "Smilin' Through" a new standard. Harrison Ford, certainly one of the finest leading men on the screen, has a dual role—that of Jeremiah Wayne in the earlier episodes, and of Kenneth Wayne in the modern episode. The parts are widely dissimilar and Mr. Ford plays them both with distinction. Alec B. Francis is exceedingly fine and lovable as the doctor friend of John Carteret.

Katherine MacDonald in "The Beautiful Liar" is programmed at the Auditorium tonight. The American beauty has a charming story of a stenographer's rise to fame through a "fib." Charles Hutchinson in the third chapter play "Go Get Em Hutch." Robert Edeson in "Any Night" is programmer for Friday.

Dr. Chase Will Repeat Lecture.

Dr. P. N. Chase delivered his thrilling lecture, "Homeward Bound from San Francisco," at the Methodist Episcopal Church, East Kingston, Tuesday evening. Over one hundred tickets had been sold, but on account of the storm less than half of the holders of tickets were present.

On this account, Dr. Chase has kindly consented to repeat the lecture Tuesday evening, August 8, at 7:30, standard time. It is hoped that all who have tickets can attend, as well as others, and if any who heard the lecture Tuesday night wish to hear it again, they will be admitted without tickets.

CANVASS ON FOR BOY SCOUTS FUNDS

The house to house canvass for funds to maintain the Boy Scouts in Kingston the coming year began Wednesday evening and workers all over the city reported a cordial reception. There seemed to be an almost unanimous opinion that the Scout movement was a good one and contributions were limited only by the giver's circumstances. The short interval of fair weather seemed, however, to have tempted a great number of people to leave for auto rides, the movies or just for a walk, and consequently many were missed. These, if they desire, may send checks or contributions to Arthur J. Burns, 256 Wall street.

The canvass will continue until the $4,600 necessary for the first year's establishment and maintenance of the Scouts is obtained. A canvass of the county is now in progress.

The committees for the several wards, the chairman having the privilege of choosing additional workers, are as follows:

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America)

'OUT AMONG THE BIG THINGS'

Summer time—schoolbooks closed—means a scout's own particular time, camping days with their opportunities for advancing in scoutcraft and woodcraft and growing bigger and stronger and better "out among the big things."

Last year in the 2,000 boy scout camps throughout the country over 100,000 boys enjoyed the advantages of the scout program. The cost per boy per week averaged less than $5.40, the camping department emphasizing the necessity of keeping the cost at the minimum to make it possible for all scouts to attend.

Every indication this year points to an increased number of campers and camps, and a pronounced development of facilities.

At the boy scout camps no laxity is allowed in the matter of safeguarding boys from harm—moral as well as physical.

Great care is taken in selecting a competent camp staff and every reasonable provision is made for instant attention in case of sickness or accident. The records of the organization show remarkably health conditions throughout all scout camps and almost no accidents of consequence. Boys are safer by far in a boy scout camp than in any city.

And then the advantage of the training. Sportsmen say there is no experience like camping to bring out and develop a man's ability to team with other men. It's a great art for a boy to be able to do good team work with other fellows—to share his job and his fun and their fun, his treats and their treats. That is how life-long friendships are formed.

It puts a boy on his mettle. It brings out the best that is in him, and it is one secret of the pull of the scout camp on scouts who have been there.

To the summer camp, with its swimming, hiking, tracking, collecting, exploring, canoeing, climbing, good eats, sleep, scoutcraft, campfire songs and stories every scout should try to go, for it's—

Out among the big things, the heights that gleam afar.

A fellow gets to wonder: what means each distant star?

He may not get an answer, but somehow every night.

He feels among the big things that everything's all right.

WHY SCOUTS REFUSED REWARD

An account of the rescue by boy scouts of three men from drowning, appeared recently throughout the country. The account read substantially as follows:

Boy Scouts Rescue Three Men From Drowning, Refuse Slim Reward.

"On Aug. 10, 1922, three men at the point of death in Lake Michigan after their rowboat had capsized, were rescued yesterday by four boy scouts. When the third man had been landed, one of the rescuers offered the scout leader a dollar bill 'for a reward.' It was not accepted."

The account did not mention why the scouts refused the reward, but here's the reason. It wasn't because the gratuity was "slim." It wasn't because the boys didn't have use for pocket money. It was because to do so would be a violation of the scout law which says in part: "A scout may work for pay, but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns." It wouldn't have been hard to identify these boys as scouts. Their courage and skill in making the rescue gave evidence of their scout training; their faithfulness to the scout law confirmed it. It's just such boys as these, with the courage to help others at all times and to hold fast to their conviction, that are the backbone of the movement. And all honor to them!

SCOUTS' APPRECIATIVE HOSTS

In the city of Lincoln the chief of police recently invited the boy scouts of the city 600 in number, to be the guests of himself and his associates on the police force at a barbecue. When asked by a reporter why he proposed to do this he answered:

"These boys have, for several years, performed public service of such an important character, and which has been such aid to the police, that we have been released for more serious service. Therefore, I wish, with my associates, to give this evidence of our hearty appreciation."

This incident, showing that the police of a city and the boy scouts are in co-operation for the community's good, is being repeated in many other cities.

BERRIES TO PAY CAMP FEES

Scouts of Canisteo, N. Y., Troops 1, 2 and 3, will have an opportunity to pay their way at camp by picking berries on their own camp site. A fruit grower has offered a beautiful spot at Lake Kanaka, Tyrone, N. Y., to the scouts with the provision that they pick his berries for him. He will pay the boys by the box. All the boys at camp will do equal work, so as to insure unity of program. The boys say: "You see, in this way we can really 'pick' our own camp site."

CADETS' ENTERTAINMENT AT KINGSTON OPERA HOUSE

Wednesday evening the boys of Company A, Kingston Cadets, gave a very creditable and pleasing entertainment at the Kingston Opera House, with the hope of adding to their camping fund. The boys presented one whole day of camp life in a very realistic manner. As the curtain rose, there were to be seen the officers' tent and four small tents, filled with sleeping bags who however quickly responded to reveille and at the sunrise call raised the American flag. For breakfast the boys had real sandwiches and hot coffee, and then tents were put in order and there was an inspection drill—with actual guns, if you please—that called forth much applause. Games followed and one little lad just brimming over with fun, kept the entire audience laughing most of the evening.

Nor was "mess" at noon just a piece of by-play, for again the lads had real food which they seemed hungry to enjoy. Then there were more games and drilling and a conference of the officers of the day, followed by a picturesque camp fire built after the lowering of the flag as the young men in their khaki uniforms all stood attention during the firing of the sunset gun and the playing by the orchestra of "The Star Spangled Banner".

The evening's performance closed with the sounding of "taps." The lads are to be congratulated upon the entertainment given though it did not add to the camping fund in the matter of revenue.

SOUTHERN ULSTER BOY SCOUT QUOTA.

Highland, Aug. 3.—The campaign has been started in this district for the purpose of raising a fund to properly conduct the Boy Scout work in this county. A county organization has been effected which will make it possible to conduct the work in a way to bring the most desired results. Each part of the county is asked to do something toward providing finances necessary to make the work what it really should be. All are interested in the Boy Scout movement for they simply cannot help being interested. It is worth to the young lads and, therefore, to the community has been so fully demonstrated that the value has become quite generally known.

In this district the quota to be raised by the different communities is as follows:
New Paltz, $157.50; Highland, $235.50; Milton, $185; Clintonville, $90.90; Modena, $36; Wallkill, $105; Gardiner, $32.50; Esopus, $37.50; Marlborough, $121.05; Ulster Park, $37.65; West Park, $11.25; executive, $3,000. It is sincerely to be hoped that our community will respond in a way which will show a wholesome interest in this decidedly world movement.

ATWOOD.

Atwood, Aug. 2.—There will be an ice cream social on the school grounds, Saturday evening, August 5. Proceeds for the church. Every one is welcome.

ACCORD POULTRY CLUB MEETING.

Accord, Aug. 3.—The Accord Poultry Club will meet Friday, August 3, at 8 p. m. in the Accord M. E. Church hall.

The evening will be devoted mainly to a study of Ulster county's prospects in the New York city's egg market. For a year Ulster county eggs have not fared very good in New York city's egg market, and matters are getting worse instead of better. Why has Ulster county lost its premium in the New York egg market? What chances has Ulster county to regain the top of the market? How can this be done? These and kindred other questions will be fully answered by C. R. White, who has had thirty years' experience in marketing and possibly knows New York city's egg market better than any other available man. Mr. White is thoroughly competent to give us some very sound counsel as he is rich in experience and a very interesting and forceful speaker.

A special group of Ulster county poultrymen are now investigating the New York city egg market and will report at this club meeting.

This meeting bids fair to be the most interesting of any in the past. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

He's Worse Than a Nuisance.

Arthur Castor

Henry Wilkens

Henry Wilkens, a prominent San Francisco automobile man, has been arrested on charges of conspiring to kill his wife. The murder was committed with Wilkens and his wife were driving. Men in a car killed Mrs. Wilkens. Arthur Castor, in a remarkable confession, admitted he was one of the bandits, declaring Mrs. Wilkens was killed by his brother, Walter, at the instigation of Wilkens. "It'll be known it wasn't simply a side-slip job," he said. "I'd have killed my brother before we started. I hear that women's moans in my sleep. It gives a fellow the jimmies. It's bad enough to bump off a guy, but to bump off a woman—it's hell!"

ODD TRADE SIGNS

Signals That Puzzle American Visitors in Europe.

Bunch of Straw, for Instance, Has Many Meanings, Somewhat Baffling to the Uninitiated.

In many streets of continental Europe are still to be seen signs, or unwritten words, which have no such clear significance as the hat before a hatter's shop or the boot before a cobbler's. Certain of these signs are so obscure in origin and meaning that no one could understand them without reference to tradition or the past.

Everybody in this country knows that a pole painted with spirals of red, white and blue is the usual sign before a barber's shop. But how few know that the stripes are supposed by some persons to represent surgical bandages? That was when barbers performed simple surgical operations.

Before many barber shops in Europe small brass plates are hung. These are oval, concave and curiously scooped out on one side, as if a piece had been bitten out of it. This represents the old-fashioned cupping dish which barber chiropractors, or surgeons, used in taking blood from patients.

Who would naturally suppose that mats of straw, loosely plaited and fastened to the corners of buildings signify, that oysters are there for sale? But this is their meaning. In Europe oysters are never eaten except raw, and in mild weather they are exposed on the sidewalk beside a man ready to open them for customers. In bad weather, when the oysters are not exposed, persons who can read may find them mentioned among the names of fish on the shop's placards, but the mats are then expected to inform the illiterate on the point.

The old proverb, "Good wine needs no bush," refers to the custom of putting a bush before a wine shop door as a sign. Sometimes a branch is placed above the door, instead. Often no name or any other sign is displayed by the wine seller.

Such a bush may be of any tree common to the locality. In the North it is often spruce or pine or a huge branch of mistletoe. In the South it is almost always olive or myrtle, and generally renewed on fete days. The bushes have acquired the name "bouchons" in France and this is applied to small taverns also.

The ancient usage of hanging a bush over the door is obsolete in cities, but was doubtless the origin of the habit of placing small evergreens in portable wooden boxes outside cafes and restaurants in Paris and other large communities.

A common sight in Paris is that of horses led through the streets with bunches of straw tied to their tails. This signifies that these animals are for sale. In fact, a bunch of straw tied to any object can always be interpreted to mean that the present owner is ready to enter into negotiations with any one who takes a fancy to his property.

Thus, as he passes along the streets one sees baby carriages, bicycles or any second-hand furniture with the bunch of straw attached. He who runs may read such a sign even better than a written or printed card.

It serves another end as well, for advertisements can be taxed, while there is no tax on a bunch of straw. In France, unless an owner has a regular license to sell, he must place a government stamp on any sign or writing hung at the door. In the same way even a dressmaker or shoemaker in want of apprentices must put a government stamp on any notice so displayed.

A curious instance of this use of straw used to be seen near English law courts of the eighteenth century. Men willing to bail criminals or debtors were seen parading with straw in their shoes, thus signifying that they would bail for pay. Thus worthless bail came to be called "straw bail."

How the Caribs Bury Their Dead.

The Caribs, the aboriginal inhabitants of the West Indies, once exceedingly numerous, are now virtually extinct as an ethnic group. At present there are practically no pure-strain Caribs in the islands except in Dominica. This is chiefly due to the treatment which the native population received at the hands of the Spanish and the later persecutions and abuses by the early French. The slave trade began in the islands soon after the coming of Columbus.

The chief deities among the natives were good and bad spirits, and they also worshipped the sun, moon and stars. The Pee-ay-man, a kind of sorcerer, was the medicine man of the tribe, and he effected his cures by invoking the good spirit of some bird or animal, meanwhile making diabolical noises and shaking the "shac-shac," a small calabash, emptied of its contents and filled with hard seeds and provided with a handle. The dead were not buried, but inclosed in a hammock and suspended between two forest trees.—Detroit News.

Knew How He Felt.

We had just had dinner. Donald was whirling around saying he wanted an ice-cream cone.

I told him he had just had dinner and began enumerating everything he had eaten, when Beth, a neighbor's child, who was listening attentively, said: "You know, that's just the way with children. They are never satisfied."—Chicago Tribune.

THE BEAUTIFUL LIAR

Seven ministers are shown training at Camp Devens, Mass.—exponents of preparedness. Three of the clergymen are officers in the Regular Army, and the others in the National Guard or the Organized Reserves. They declare a pacifist is in reality an enemy of peace. The clergymen are, left to right, the Rev. W. I. Fraser, senior chaplain; Theodore R. Ludlow, first lieutenant and an Episcopalian; Captain G. B. Cornish, chaplain; D. Harold Hickey, captain and a Methodist Episcopalian; Major Herbert S. Johnson, a Baptist. Major Johnson refused a commission as a chaplain and went into the line. He believes in compulsory military training and cites authorities to contend that half the casualties and half the cost of the World War would have been saved if the nation had been prepared in 1917. Colonel Nichols is shown standing, instructing the clergymen.

Tagging All Bases.
Kenneth Williams crashed his home in as many playing days as the Browns were proving that they were only human after all by being as tight as a four decision to the Athletics. Williams' sock was number 33, thus placing him at the head of all the major league sluggers.

The Phils and Cubs played through 15 innings to a 7 to 7 tie.

Bullet Joe Bush shot the Indians down as fast as they showed their heads above the dugout, and the Yankees made a material gain in the race by winning 5 to 1. Only two hits were made off Bush.

Poor old Walter Johnson! They were going to back the wagon up and take him away somewhere at the start of the present race, but he mowed the White Sox down, the Senators winning 4 to 1.

LIKE COMIC FILM

How Fire Brigade of Constantinople Does Its Work.

After Much Fuss and Bother, a Feeble Stream is Thrown on Conflagration From Hand Pump.

Some idea of how the fire brigade in Constantinople fights fire is contained in the following letter from an English traveler in Turkey, says the Montreal Family Herald.

In his red helmet and drab gray clothing the fireman in Constantinople looks as unbusinesslike and unheroic as he is unpicturesque. In action he is anything but a model—indeed, it would be more in keeping with the indolent disposition of his race to let fate—and the fire—have their own way.

When the brigade "turns out" its deeds are worthy of the comic film. The equipment is hopelessly inadequate. A few primitive appliances are carried upon a ramshackle horse-drawn vehicle whose only claim to distinction is that at some remote stage of its history it has been painted red. Certainly it appears to have been designed for any purpose other than that which it serves.

The firemen do not ride upon it, but toll behind at a shuffling run, the ludicrous impression produced being that they have been rather late in responding to the alarm, and the "engine" having got off to time, they are doing their best to catch up to it.

Watching this singular body at its rehearsals in the street of Constantinople one is led involuntarily to indulge in flippant speculation as to what might happen in a genuine emergency.

If the impious curiosity so aroused can be gratified the sightseer will observe that the fuss and bother consequent upon the brigade coming into action cause more commotion and excitement than the fire.

The senior fireman, a resplendent, brass-helmeted figure armed with sword and pistol, directs operations from a distance which places him well within the safety zone.

Hydrants, of course, are unknown. If fate has ordained that there is a well in the vicinity—well and good; the brigade boasts a hand pump. This is a gaudily colored, box-like apparatus bearing the emblem of the star and crescent in glittering brass and it is carried upon two poles by a barefooted squad detailed for that special duty.

A runner precedes it, carrying a symbol of authority—a brass star and crescent upon a short staff—which insures a free passage through the crowd.

When after considerable difference of opinion it is decided where to place the pump the squad gets to work upon it, and the result is awaited with anxiety.

Presently a feeble jet of water emerges from a hose scarcely larger than that which may be seen in any suburban garden during the summer. The firemen direct it upon that part of the building which there appears to be at least hope of saving, while other members of the brigade armed with long hooked poles assist in the work of demolition by pulling down the partially consumed walls.

There can be only one end with this delightful method. It becomes a guess as to which will first complete the job—the fire or the brigade. In the long run, as a rule, the odds are on the fire.

Marching Sands.
French geologists have long taken interest in the eastward march of the sands along the northern coasts of France, Belgium and Holland. A fine sand originating on the shores of Normandy has been found distributed on the benches as far east as Denmark. It was shown, after a careful investigation of this phenomenon, that the eastward march of the sands is due to the fact that all the sea waves approaching the coast from Brittany break in nearly parallel lines with an easterly motion. The result is that the sands always progress in that direction. But the progress is slow and gradual, and measurements have proved that the sand traverses, forward and backward, perpendicular to the shore, a total distance of 8,000 times as great as that which it covers in the same length of time in its eastward progress.

Explains Cloth's Durability.
The extraordinary durability of the ancient Egyptian mummy cloth is believed to be due to the fact that it was finished with a vegetable blue derived from the African locust bean tree.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. I feel like I have come back in my life and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "restoration or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two weeks' treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money. Call at once for a bottle of Nuxated Iron at McBride Drug Store, Kingston Central Pharmacy, United Drug Store, A. & R. Cohen or any other good drug store.

HAMMER MAX HAMMER LEONARD OFF HIS FEET

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 3.—There is a growing uneasiness in the minds of thousands of his friends that Benny Leonard has made in this vicinity that the champion is in for a desperate time if it Saturday afternoon when he steps out with title in hand, against Ever Hammer of Chicago. These friends do not think Leonard is inferior as a fighter in any way or that he has lost ground recently, but the fact that he has a badly cut right eye is the cause.

As a matter of fact it is developing that the whole argument of the battle now is around this injury. Most of the fans admit that Hammer is a wonderfully tough and willing lad and that his rushing style of milling and his incessant hitting make him one of the hardest men of the day to put under.

For these reasons Leonard must be in the best of shape to meet him, and while he is undoubtedly in his usual excellent shape otherwise, the injured eye puts the champion in a handicapped condition that may cause him a lot of trouble.

Leonard himself admits all of Ever's toughness and general ability not only to give but to take as well. Benny knows that Hammer swings a nasty left hand, coming in from almost any direction, and in such a manner that it is hard to gauge. Of course that bad lamp is to be the main target of Hammer's left and if it connects and re-opens the Tandler and story to write of the subsequent proceedings.

Both boxers will virtually wind up their training today. Leonard will shadow box, skip rope and loosen up. Hammer will dry out. He will weigh in at under 135. Leonard is not making weight for this match.
